There is no charge for this event. Donations are welcome.

Today, millions of people around the world are victims of human trafficking. Some become slaves, forced into labor or prostitution, others become victims of organ trafficking. Since this activity generates billions of dollars, its victims can be found everywhere, including the United States.

This is an invisible crime. Awareness of the signs of labor and sex exploitation is a key to ending it!

The presenter, Peter DiMarzio, is a Victim Assistance Specialist with the Department of Homeland Security Investigations. For more information on the presentation, contact jankubiac@yahoo.com.

For the potluck, please bring a dish to share
(organic and local, if possible).

Please RSVP to Jo Ann Kelley at jojolk@dslextreme.com by Wednesday, January 29.

This event is sponsored by the UCB Social Justice Committee.
